Art Unit: 3622

a computer-readable signal-bearing medium (col 16, lines 55-60; col 36, lines 49-58; col 3, lines 45-62); means in said medium for accomplishing the method of any of claims 13 to 24.

Claim 55: Gerace discloses the product of claim 54 wherein said network is the Internet (Fig. 1; col 3, lines 50-54).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

4. Claims 10, 22, 34, 48 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Gerace (5,848,396) in view of Petty (6,342,907).

Claim 10, 22, 34, 48: Gerace discloses the system, method, medium, software product for presenting marketing content on a web page as claimed in claim 1, 13, 25, 39.

Gerace further discloses the utilization of Java and other formats (col 13, lines 51-55) and the utilization of web pages and servers (col 3, lines 54-58; col 1, lines 29-45).

Gerace does not explicitly disclose the utilization of Data Bean or a Java Server Page.

However, Petty implies the utilization of Java Server Pages and discloses the utilization of Data Bean (col 5, lines 20-25; col 9, line 65-col 10, line 3).

Therefore, it would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to add Java Server Pages and Petty's Data Beans to Gerace's utilization of Java, servers, the Internet, and webpages. One would have been motivated to do this in order to provide greater architecture flexibility and platform independence.

5. Claim 53 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Gerace (5,848,396).

Claim 53: Gerace discloses the product of claim 51.

Gerace does not explicitly disclose that said medium is a modulated carrier signal.

However, Gerace discloses the utilization of networks, the Internet, transmissions, satellite, radio, and FM radio (col 16, lines 55-60; col 36, lines 49-58; col 3, lines 45-62) and the display of information along with radio or television transmissions (col 36, lines 49-58).

Therefore, it would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to add Gerace's utilization of satellite and radio to Gerace's utilization of networks. One would have been motivated to do this in order to provide the flexibility of a wireless manner of data transmission.

Response to Arguments

6. Applicant's arguments with respect to claims 1-55 have been considered but are not found persuasive.

Art Unit: 3622

Examiner further notes that it is the Applicant's claims as stated in the Applicant's claims that are being rejected with the prior art.

Examiner notes that while specific references were made to the prior art, it is actually also the prior art in its entirety and the combination of the prior art in its entirety that is being referred to.

Please also note that the additional citations added below have also been added to the rejection above.

On page 18-19 of the Applicant's amendment dated 10/7/04, Applicant presents several statements of features that the Applicant states are not disclosed in Gerace.

Gerace discloses a marketing page element placed on the web page and that these components are for placing on a web page (col 1, lines 30-45; col 1, lines 60-65; col 6, lines 45-52; col 17, lines 60-67; col 20, lines 10-20; col 16, lines 36-55; col 14, lines 25-35; col 2, lines 24-30; col 4, lines 25-30;).

Gerace discloses design of a webpage and marketing strategy for determining marketing content (col 5, lines 19-24; col 20, lines 10-20; col 12, lines 21-56; col 18, lines 10-26).

On page 20 of the Applicant's amendment dated 10/7/04, Applicant states, "However, nowhere does Gerace teach that the information currently displayed on the web page is taken into account".

However, Gerace discloses taking the information currently displayed on the web page into account (col 16, lines 36-55; col 14, lines 25-35; col 10, line 64-col 11, line 5).
